Dear friends,

I want to take a moment to personally thank you all for your support leading up to, and during, the 2010 Primary Election. Our victory was no accident, and the win must be attributed to both the will of the voters and the hard work of each and every supporter. Whether or not you attended organizational meetings, helped organize fundraisers, walked in parades, delivered flyers to voters, or simply spoke to all your friends, neighbors, and acquaintances, your individual contribution was critical to the success of the mission. It is now time to refocus our ideas and work together to once again cross the finish line leading the pack.

One competitor has already announced his intent to run as an Independent and there will likely be more candidates file. As a campaign, we must all view each candidate as serious opposition and operate accordingly.

In the months to come between now and Election Day (November 2, 2010), I will once again be asking for your continued support. I will be looking for help organizing fundraisers, communications, and advertising. Your creative skills are needed! Please take a moment to ponder how you can share your talents and ideas to help. Whether or not you became involved in the past makes no difference; I welcome any good help to the campaign.

Thank you again for your hard work, dedication, and commitment which enabled my victory in the Primary Election process. I could not have been successful without each of your individual efforts. I look forward to the return of the good help I have had over the last several months, and look forward to new faces joining the campaign as we prepare now and formulate strategy to lead to success on November 2nd.

To become involved, contact me by calling 317-453-9352 or via e-mail at DougCoxforSheriff@embarqmail.com.

Respectfully,

Chief Deputy Doug Cox
Candidate for Sheriff, Johnson County, Indiana
